We are here today to bring awareness of Lyme disease and to support Senate bill 1381 to finally get a grip on the growing epidemic of tick-borne illnesses. From the farms of upstate New York to the beaches of Long Island to the parks in all five boroughs of New York City, tick-borne diseases are a public health crisis that truly knows no boundaries. Anyone can be a victim at any time, and it is a crisis that has been ignored for too long. According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control, Lyme disease remains the fastest growing vector-borne infectious disease in the United States. The CDC reports 30,000 cases of Lyme disease in 2009, but it acknowledges that actual numbers may be over, as Senator Blumenthal said, 10 times as high due to underreporting.
